The Dance.

In the days of the birch rod and the common drinking cup in the schoolroom there was always a boy or a girl who was called "stupid." It used to be thought that the class dance was inevitable and he or she was accepted as a matter of course, people take a kinder view today. Doubtless pity and sympathy were felt and expressed in former days for the class dancer. There were those who regarded the mental deficiencies of that unfortunate as a real calamity.

Probably it was pity that led to the discovery that these dances are the victims of some slight and easily removed physical handicap. Adenoid growths, it is now known, are a serious barrier to the child's efforts to learn his lessons. They impede his natural breathing, in consequence of which an insufficient and impure supply of blood is sent to the brain cells.

The same kindly spirit which leads experts in education to ferret out other defects in school children has caused a committee of the Chicago school board to provide for an inspection of the teeth of young pupils to determine whether a regular dental clinic shall be established in the public schools. The person who complains that this sort of thing is rank paternalism should know it is merely a recognition of the democratic principle that equal opportunity should be given every child to grow up in a way to win success.

Deal at home as much as possible. Build up your home town. This will make you a better home market and enhance the value of your property.

The frost upon the ground is lying; the winds about the eaves are crying, and winter batters at our portals and brings a chill to gloomy mortals. Outside, the world is sad and dreary; the tortured trees are wailing, weary; but in the kitchen all is gladness, there is no sign of winter sadness! Let winter rave till it is dizzy—for Mary Jane is getting busy! Around the stove she makes a clatter; she stirs her good old luscious batter, and fusses with the trusty skillet, and now with dope she'll fill it, and in a minute we'll be eating her buckwheat cakes, all record beating! Oh, buckwheat cakes and maple sirup! Hand me my lyce and hear me chirrup! Oh, may their virtues vanish never! They brace a man for high endeavor; they fill him with a noble ardor—the more we have, we eat the harder; they fill us with a soothing vision of fragrant fields and fields elysian, and all the world seems bright and joyous; and trifling ills do not annoy us. Had I the harp of Burns or Shelley I'd sing the rapture of man's belly when to its depth the buckwheat passes, all soaked in good Vermont molasses!

The Secret of Youth

Do you ever wonder how you can remain young, or why other women older than you, look younger than you do? The secret can be put in a few words: "Preserve your health, and you will preserve your youth."

By "health," we mean not alone physical health, but nerve health, as, sometimes, magnificently strong-looking women are nervous wrecks.

But whether you are weak physically or nervously, you need a tonic, and the best tonic for you is Cardui. It builds strength for the physical and nervous systems. It helps put flesh on your bones and vitality into your nerves.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1911.
Published at the Record Press, Depoy, Ky., by ORREN L. ROARK.

Depoy, Ky., has the first postal savings bank in the state, and its progress is being watched with much interest.

In view of the published assertion that about 30 per cent of the people of New York state are insane, it is not surprising that insanity is so frequently pleaded there as an excuse for crime.

Now, some international court will assign fines for disorderly conduct on nations that go to war and add the amount to the Carnegie fund, we shall soon have universal amity all the while the hired man on his evening off.

The death of Chicago's fire chief and several firemen recently in the stock yards fire has resulted in one good thing—Chicago observed a safe and sane New Year's night, under special orders of the chief of police. And now the people of Chicago are so well pleased that it is planned to continue the order.

THIRTY-FIVE men lost their lives during 1910 while engaged in air flights. This is a startling human toll, but for the great advance made in a new field, no man has made a useless sacrifice. Every death is to be deplored, but accidents are inevitable, and man will conquer the air, as he has the land and sea. All bow to the men who have fearlessly died in such work.

THE YEAR 1910
BY RONDO

The year of 1910 has passed out, one more year having been added to the 20th century. The history of 1910 has been recorded upon the chronicles of time. Its events and destinies have been told, its joys and comforts have been realized; its adversities, misfortunes and bitterness of life have been felt. Year after year how swiftly they seem to pass. By the continued ticking of our clocks we hear the pulse of time beating life and its events away. In looking back over 1910 we see its gains and achievements, its wrecks and ruins. But our object in this article, is to take note of the deaths that have occurred in our little town during 1910. While we have been engaged in the busy, bustling scenes of life we have been unconscious of how many of our friends and neighbors have passed from the active scenes of life and are missing from our midst. We understand from our Undertakers that during the year 1910, twenty-five white people and thirteen colored people have died within the corporate limits of Greenville, making a total of thirty-eight persons who hailed the dawn of the year 1910, but were missing at the dawn of 1911. Some died in the spring of life, some in its summer bloom, others during its autumnal decline.

We shall only take note of a family that has nearly become extinct in Greenville, that of J. V. Ragon, who was born at Howling Green, Warren county, in 1824, and came to Greenville with his family in 1868, forty-two years ago, and cast his destiny with the people of Greenville. He secured a good and comfortable home in which he spent the remainder of his days. His family consisted of a wife, four daughters and one son. He was a saddler by trade, to which business he devoted all his energies, his time and talent; he was industrious and did all that he could for the welfare and comfort of his family; he was a quiet, discreet Christian and a respectable citizen; he was a devoted member of the Baptist church and for a number of years was town trustee of Greenville; and all along through his years he kept the voiceless tenor of his way.

We lived a neighbor to him and family for twenty years, he loved his family and home, he did all he could to make it happy and comfortable. He and his family seemed to enjoy life; they were generous and kind. We knew them when they were all within the bloom and vigor of health, but as years came and went, and after the lapse of twenty-five years, death entered the household and one by one of the family began to wither, to pine and die; a mother, three daughters, one son and a grandson, all went down in death, leaving the aged father and his oldest daughter, the only representative of the Ragon family. The old man, now past his four score years, the vitality of his life fast receding, weakened by the toils of time and the weight of years, pilloled his weary head upon the bosom of the affections, love and care of his only living offspring, whose kindness and care was devoted to the giving him all the attention within her power for his comfort and ease. Gradually he pined away, and after he had reached his four score years and six, breathed out his long and eventful life in November, 1910, leaving a lonely daughter to mourn her loss. As we stood and saw the pallbearers carrying him from his home, along the way he had come and gone thousands of times in life, to meet and greet those that he loved, tears of sympathy fell from our eyes when we saw the only remaining daughter, with a broken and bleeding heart following the lifeless body of her father and the best friend she ever had; she followed him to his destiny in time, to where he was gathered to his family that had preceded him; she stood and saw him covered up from the sight of the living and then returned to her desolate and forsaken home. All of its charms had flown—a home no longer sweet and dear, but sad. She determined to leave it and let it pass into the hands of other names and she would seek protection and comfort with relatives elsewhere. So in Greenville the Ragon home will cease to be, and the Ragon name become extinct. There are now fragments of four families in Greenville that were here when the Ragon family came, and perhaps they too shall soon become extinct.

Trade has suffered a great relapse. Good morning! Are you still on the cart?

Circuit court begins next Monday, with a light docket.

Greatest labor savor ever invented can be seen at Roark's.

Judge W. H. Yost and Mr. J. A. Johnson, of Madisonville, were here one or two days last week on business.

"The Passing Show," which appeared at the opera house on the evening of December 28, pleased a fair sized audience.

Orders for cut flowers will receive the prompt attention of Miss Lena Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Dexter have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their first-born, a girl, which came to them yesterday morning, but was born dead. Mrs. Dexter is getting along very nicely.

Mr. Roy Roark and sister, Miss Hallie, left Tuesday for New Mexico where they expect to locate. They go for the benefits of the climate, and their many friends hope they may receive the greatest benefits.

Leslie Hale has provided equipment and is serving all sorts of hot drinks now at his fountain.

A doctor, unmarried, (not necessarily in town) was calling on a lady friend a day or so before Christmas, and remarked "I have been out sleighing today." The girl in question, who is quick witted and does not hesitate to remark whatever comes into her mind, replied "Why, doctor, I thought you did that most every day." There is an estrangement that has lasted up to the present, and it may result in a permanent rupture of what promised to be a serious friendship.

Orren L. Roark buys, sells, rents, repairs typewriters, carries supplies of all kinds, and solicits trade in all branches.

Dexter-Lovell Wedding.

Miss Amy Dexter and Mr. Hugh Lovell were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Dexter, parents of the bride, at 8:30 o'clock Dec. 28, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends, Rev. G. P. Dillon performing the ceremony. Both are well known and popular, and have the very best wishes of a wide circle of admirers and friends. They are at home on Mr. Lovell's farm, near Depoy.

Messrs. Porter & Fulkerson have opened a restaurant in the Lam building, and invite the patronage of the public.

Board of County Supervisors.

The board of supervisors of county tax lists is in session, beginning work Monday, and all of next week will be required to complete the work, it is thought. The board is composed of a taxpayer from each magisterial precinct and two from Central City. Following is a list of the board members: Central City, M. F. Moore and Martin Stroud; District No. 1, Joe Martin; No. 2, J. C. Haden; No. 3, C. W. Roark; No. 4, J. C. Hardison; No. 5, A. J. Browning. They are all good men and competent, and will do good work in the equalizing of tax burdens.

Doctors, undertakers, sextons, and the public in general should inform themselves of the provisions of the Vital Statistics law, which went into effect January 1. All births must be reported, and certificates must be made out and a permit secured for the burial or removal of any dead body. Heavy penalties are provided for failure or refusal to comply with this law, which is general all over the state, and does not refer to towns alone, as many people suppose.

Bear in mind that Roark has splendid selections of wallpaper in stock, ready for delivery, and sample books of the finest papers made, which can be procured on short notice after selection.

PUZZLES FOR DAYS OF THE YEAR.
BY DANTE GABRIEL ROSETTI.

On the Gabriel Rossetti, the celebrated English painter and poet, was born in London, May 12, 1828, and died at Birmingham, Kent, April 19, 1882. He was the brother of the modern Pre-Raphaelite school of painting and writer of many remarkably beautiful poems.

Let me remark of thee anything Not yearning between spring and spring, More of all worlds than he can know, Each day the single sun doth show.
A traveler glows than thou canst give From all who scold the modern life, The sea doth sigh and the wind sing, Crave thou the power of earthly things, Unworthy hope's imaginings.
To have brought true birth of song to be And to have won hearts to poetry, Or anywhere in the sun or rain To have loved and been beloved again In loftiest reach of hope's bright wings, What's to be others' need is claimed More than by thee to him, valiant Design it; and if he should hold What more than he thou lack'st, bread, gold,
Or any good whereby we live—To thee such solace as he give Freely; for he nor thou be shamed.
Nirve that the words prove equal; let That work which thou hast done the best Should come to be to thee at length (Even as to envy seems the strength Of others) hateful and abhorred—Thine own above thyself made lord Of self-reliance the thirteenth.

To God and to chance at worst, Give thanks for good to him, last as first,
But wind-blown blossom in that good Whose apple is not gratitude.
Even if no prayer uplift thy face, Let the sweet right to render grace As thy soul's cherishes could be nursed.

NEW LAW

Bureau of Vital Statistics, Created by Act of Legislature Approved March 21, 1910, Takes Effect January 1, 1911.

All Births in County Must Be Registered, and Bodies of Dead Persons Cannot Be Buried or Removed From County Without a Permit.

Heavy Penalties Imposed Upon Those Who Fail or Refuse to Comply With the Law.

The law enacted by the last Legislature, approved March 21, 1910, and taking effect on January 1, 1911, brings this state in line with others, and conforms to the rules and regulations approved by the U. S. Census and American Public Health Association. The provisions require that every birth shall be registered, and the failure or refusal of any physician, midwife or other person charged with responsibility for reporting births, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars.

If any undertaker, sexton, or other person acting as undertaker shall inter, remove, or otherwise dispose of a body of any deceased person, without having received a burial or removal permit, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars.

Railroad and other common carriers are required to see that all bodies offered for shipment shall be accompanied by the proper permit, and shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense.

This law will work a hardship on some persons who live remote from any of the registrars, and will involve some extra work on doctors, sextons, undertakers and others, but in the long run the law is without doubt an excellent one, as it will keep the vital statistics in a convenient, reliable shape, and will save much trouble for future generations in the way of claims, avoidance of lawsuits, and such important matters.

Mr. V. H. Franklin, office deputy sheriff, has been commissioned registrar here, and his territory embraces voting precincts No. 10, 11, 12, 13 and 17, which is quite a territory. He has all the necessary blanks, and has supplied doctors, undertakers and others affected, so far as he has been able, and has supplies for all, and asks that persons entitled apply to him at once.

Mr. Chas. Creel has been appointed at Central City, embracing voting precincts No. 3, 4, 18 and 21.

Mr. W. H. Moore, at Bevier; J.
R. Morgan, South Carrollton; J. C.
Kirtley, Penrod; W. H. Williams, Cisney; C. G. Bridges, Drakesboro; I. W. Humphrey, Graham; C. E.
Martin, Earles; W. C. Grundy, Bremen, are all registrars for their respective territories, and have supplies. Permits must be secured from the registrars in the territory where births or deaths occur, and at no other place.

The law has not been known, and it will be well for all persons to inform themselves and others of its provisions, so that no infractions may be committed.

Mr. J. A. Shaver has his new "Midget" mill in operation and is turning out a first-class flour. He is now in position to care for custom grinding and also to supply the local market, and asks the patronage of the public.

Special attention given to people who live in the country. Ford Bros.

Prominent Kentuckians last week in Louisville in the good roads convention expressed themselves as in favor of improved highways. This is all right, but what is needed is to arouse a general interest in this important matter among the masses.

The quail season closed Saturday, and several hunters were in at the finish. The season was not a satisfactory one, on the whole, as birds were scarce and territory was restricted, as many farmers here closed their fields against the hunters.

are heavy.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

On last Sunday afternoon a goodly crowd was out to the New Year's service and it proved a very interesting and helpful meeting. The talks by Dr. Henderson and Rev.
Dillon were very timely and well received. The music rendered by the choir and especially by the quartette was enjoyed by all.

On next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the regular men's meeting will be resumed. "The Transfiguration" will be the subject for discussion at this meeting. Every man and boy in Greenville is cordially invited to be present.

During the vacation week the building was crowded from early morning till late at night. The reading room, game room and gymnasium were given a thorough test as to their efficiency.

During the week the Y. M. C. basket ball team played four games; one with the Jackson, Tenn. boys and one with the Greenville boys, who were added from their own ranks for the vacation.
The boys from Jackson, Tenn., were victorious in both games, the scores as follows: 25 to 14 and 17 to 17. They are planning for some more match games in the future.

There are only three more months left in the association year. Have I done all in my power to make OUR association count for the most in the community, during the year?

If not, why not resolve to try to make amends during the remaining three months.

We rejoice with Covington and Louisville in their successful new building campaigns. The former for $100,000 and the latter for $350, 000. During the past calendar year the association of Kentucky have carried on seven campaigns raising $650,000 to carry on the work of helping men. This has been a great step in the history of the work in Kentucky. God surely has been with us.

The bible class meets this week as usual at 3:45 on Thursday. Be sure to study your lesson.

Uncle Jim Barrett, a well known colored man, died at his home just west of town about noon yesterday, after a few days' illness. He was very old, and died from the infirmities of age. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon and interment made in Fairmount cemetery.

That was a three-day Christmas by falling on Sunday, some persons observing also the days preceding and following. One young man discovered that a little remembrance which he had given a friend on Saturday had landed in the hands of a third party by Monday at noon, and while he feels pleased that his selection was apparently considered tasty and appropriate, he is not exactly satisfied with the manner in which it was made to travel.
